

The diagram illustrates the structure of a genome, showing the arrangement of genes and non-coding regions. The top row represents the coding region, where genes (black rectangles) are separated by introns (green vertical lines). The bottom row represents the non-coding region, which contains a large black rectangle. The right side of the diagram is labeled "Coding" and "Non-coding".

VASP_tetra
WH1

